

Miguel González Sardinero

CUNEF UNIVERSIDAD
Almansa 101, 28040 Madrid Spain
m.gonzalezsardinero@cunef.edu
CUNEF Website

EMPLOYMENT

- Lecturer, Dept. of Finance and Accounting, CUNEF Universidad (2016-present)
- Various positions in BBVA Global Markets, with the top one being Global head of Interest rates and member of the BBVA Global Markets management committee (2001-2016).
- Trading derivatives in FX, Interest rates, and equity. Banco Santander (1997-2001).
- Subdirector of Market Risk Management in Banco Santander (1994-1996)
- Derivatives Trader. Argentaria Bolsa (1992-1994).
- Fedea, part-time researcher (1991).

EDUCATION

- PhD in Mathematics (June 1991). Dissertation “Embeddings on CC-Groups”. Cum Laude
- CEMFI (1889-1991)
- Master's degree in Maths. (June, 1987). Extraordinary prize.

FIELDS OF INTEREST

Financial markets

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Over 25 years' experience in financial markets, with extensive knowledge and background (Trading across all asset classes with special focus on Fixed Income), a substantial track record, very strong quantitative skills, and high ethics.

Strong intercultural communicator who is well-versed in global business practices with extensive knowledge of building and leading diverse and high-performing teams across Asia, Europe, Latin America, and the US.

The trajectory is fully based on in-depth analysis and trading derivatives of all asset classes: Fixed Income, Equity, FX, and Commodities. To have worked in the market risk management area, learning deeply about all financial products in global markets (1994-1996) provided a very solid base on product knowledge, and it was key to the subsequent career success.

Currently dedicated to managing his own wealth actively and teaching finance in CUNEF Universidad.